Advice For Hubby-Hunting Ladies

SO IT'S LEAP year, lady, and you want to get that guy? Well, if you want to be successful, quit trying to follow the usual advice to the lovelorn-and face the real facts

The main fact is that the odds are against you-and the odds are getting worse. Ten years ago there were 100 men for every 100 women in the United States. But the last census showed there are only 96.6 men over 21 for every 100 women in the same age bracket. There just aren't enough guys to go around. Most of the 100 women try to marry one of those 96 men. Why don't you aim at the leftover-the .6 per cent fellow. Don't forget that if you can't get a whole man a male fraction is better than none.

THE PROFESSIONAL advice-givers usually tell a girl to be sensible and "marry a dependable, healthy man with a steady job and a good sense of humor." That is like telling you to marry the man in the moon. Think of all the men you know who are dependable, healthy and have a steady job and a good sense of humor. Don't they already wear some other gal's brand? As a young lady told me mournfully:

"I know a lot of good men I'd like to marry-but their wives won't let me."

So, if you really want to get wed this year, start culling over the junk heap of masculinity that is left. Remember, a good jalopy can be built from the metal scraps found in the average city dump.

YOUR BEST BET isn't to search for the perfect husband. It's to salvage and recondition some battered Joe your girl friends have passed over in the mad scramble. To take some masculine nightmare and remold him More British troops will be re. from Senator Taft demanding into your dream man-that is your challenge, A few tips on how to do it:

> Look for a man with circles under his eyes. Now, here is obviously a fellow who needs a good long rest. All you have to do is convince him that if he marries you he will

Men with ulcers are always good possibilities. But if you have an ulcer, too, don't let him know about it until after you've pushed him to the altar. Tell him you'se flat-footed or got indoor eczema-and he won't mind. But all bachelors are instinctively wary of wedding women with the same ailment as they whole face of things internation. Austria and Czechoslovskia and certainly embarrass both the U.N. have. They don't want to share it with any-

> SINGLE MEN with melancholy dispositions are first_rate prospects. Marriage is a serious proposition, and nothing is so trying to a wife as a mate who brags about his sense of humor. What gives a husband the right Acheson do not dare to risk a Chinese flag undoubtedly will be to think he's got anything to laugh about

Don't worry if the man you're after doesn't seem able to hold a steady job. Six months after you land him, he'll be glad to get up every morning and go to work-anything to get out of the house. The main thing is-don't look for a man you want to marry because of his virtues. Marry a man for his defects, and then iron them out. It is much easier to correct a defect than to preserve a virtue.

Two final warnings:

Don't marry a man who wears bowties and a crew haircut. He'll never grow up. And don't marry an oboe player. You'll never hear the last of him.
